A feature screenplay of WWII

The Treasure

A feature dramatic screenplay on World War II

The Belgian National Treasure is hidden in a convent – the Nazis are ordered to find it.

Denise, 16, plans to be a nightclub singer – or a dancer – until the Nazis invade her home at a French beach resort and she flees to an ancient convent in the Pyrenees – to become Sister Placide just as the Prioress agrees to hide the Belgian National Treasure. The convent's patron gives away her fortune to join the nuns in their poverty and the SS set up their Rest and Rehabilitation center in the convent's garden.

A true story based on interviews with Sister Placide
